

Pranav Chandane

Cinematographer | Director | Creative Producer

I am a cinematographer and creative director specialising in feature films, web series, advertising campaigns, and large-scale live events. With extensive experience leading multidisciplinary crews, I oversee the complete execution of behind-the-scenes productions—from BTS cinematography, still photography, and Electronic Press Kits (EPKs) to marketing films and digital campaign content.

My expertise lies in transforming the filmmaking process into compelling visual stories while managing complex productions involving multiple teams, cameras, and fast-paced shooting environments. Whether documenting intimate creative moments, large-scale action sequences, celebrity interviews, or live events with thousands of attendees, I ensure every deliverable meets the highest cinematic and commercial standards.

Having collaborated with global studios, streaming platforms, and leading production houses, I bring together creative vision, technical precision, and strong leadership to produce BTS content that not only documents a production but becomes an integral part of its marketing and storytelling.
